Advertising offer,

Please allow me to introduce myself, my name is Kevin Carpenter, and I own the Fishaholics web sites. See www.fishaholics.com.au , www.fishaholics.ws , www.fishaholics.mobi and www.fishaholics.biz

"FISHAHOLICS" was designed as a "Web site for Fishermen, By Fishermen". Our site has hundreds of thousands of hits per month by persons with both fishing and boating interests, and is growing daily.

What to buy, where to buy it and how to use it are common threads in our forums and chat rooms.

We are both pleased and excited to be able to offer you the most aggressive and interactive form of advertising available today.

Adds placed in most "Print Media" are "Static" and the customer needs to remember the information and contact details, then contact you at a later stage, or they misplace the add altogether. And it all becomes just too hard for most people.

This is not the case on the Internet, your adds are interactive and viewed 24/7 around the world, and can have direct links back to the advertisers, which can draw an instant response.

Customers can simply click on your add to be instantly connected to your website or email link. Allowing far more content to display in one place. Customers can even ask you or other members direct questions relating to your service or products via email or PM (private message) through the forum. Discussing your products in this manner provides a better service and a word of mouth reference, which I have found to be invaluable in the service industry, plus the loyalty factor associated with club memberships.

We do have FREE listings for some services, and enhanced listings at low rates. Sponsorship listings start from $250.00 per year and that is about the same amount as a very small add placed for one week in the local paper. ("Static Media"). You will also be listed in our "Sponsors Directory" on both the main page and the forum. The forum section allows you to load photos, logos, catalogues etc, and by adding to this post regularly, you will be in the most recent posts list and therefore current topic. We ask all our members and readers to support our "Sponsors". Banner links are extra, so please contact me for price structure.

This is indeed unbeatable value. So don't hesitate to take us up on this offer! Contact me today to secure your advertising spot on FISHAHOLICS.

Regards
